

CSCI 591, ST:Proj in Nat Lang Processing

1 Course Description

(R-12) Offered intermittently. Prereq., consent of instr. Experimental offerings of visiting professors, experimental offerings of new courses, or one-time offering of current topics. Level: Graduate. Students will learn the basics of processing natural languages for text analysis and compiler design. Students will learn about methods for representing text, estimating distance between texts, attributing authorship, parsing a programming language, classifying text, and generating text.